Swirling Worlds: Inside the Mind of a Student-Athlete is set to premiere.

Piedmont student Chris Donsereaux hosts a 12-week podcast featuring Piedmont athletes.

Demorest, Georgia, February 3, 2024 – Donsereaux announces a Roar Podcast Production feature podcast, including 12 different Piedmont student-athletes and their journey to Piedmont University

“This is an opportunity to give Piedmont athletes a platform to share their stories and how Piedmont has helped them academically,” said Swirling Worlds producer and host Chris Donsereaux. “Each of these students deserve a chance to let the world know how they feel, especially being at a small Division III university.”

The producer and host, Chris Donsereaux, is releasing a 12-week podcast series featuring different Piedmont student-athletes giving a detailed look into their journey before arriving at Piedmont University, and how Piedmont has helped them achieve their academic goals. Donsereaux features nine different Piedmont sports teams in this series, hearing from various record holders and each team's top performers.

In conjunction with the Roar Podcast Productions, Donsereaux will release new episodes every Friday at 6 p.m. This podcast is available on all streaming platforms.
